

OBITUARY.

George B. Fuller.
The Bulletin's Columbia correspondent writes:
George Bennett Fuller died at his home in Columbia, Green Monday at 2 o'clock a. m. He had been in failing health for some time and death was not unexpected. He was about 73 years of age and survived a wife and three married daughters—Mrs. Frederick H. Avery of East Hartford, Mrs. George F. Taylor and Mrs. Otto H. Robinson of Willimantic.
Mr. Fuller was a public spirited citizen, always ready to aid in every good cause. His early years were spent in Hartford, where he was in the music store of John Harris. Returning to his home in Columbia, he engaged in a general mercantile business which he successfully conducted for nearly half a century, retiring from active business only when failing health made it absolutely necessary for him to do so.
He was for many years postmaster at the Columbia office, and held the office of assistant postmaster when he sold out his business about a year ago. He was fond of music and for many years was leader of the church choir in his town. He had much to do to secure the grounds about his residence, planting rare plants, flowering shrubs and ornamental trees, so that the grounds resembled a garden. He was much admired by summer visitors as well as by his townspeople. In politics he was a republican, and several years ago represented his town in the legislature. He was a kind husband and father, a genial friend and companion and a good citizen.

Flying Sparks from Foundry Cause $50 Fire Damage on Mansfield Avenue.
An alarm was rung in from box 15 Monday afternoon between 4 and 4:45 o'clock for a fire in a cottage just north of the foundry on Mansfield avenue. The three companies—the Montgomery Hose, No. 2, Alert Hose, No. 1, and Excelsior Hook and Ladder, No. 1—all made quick response and were at the fire after the long run in almost record time.
Chief Webster sent in the recall soon after arrival at the fire, which was soon under control. The fire originated from sparks flying to the roof of the house from the foundry's cupola fire, they being carried to the nearby roof by the wind that was blowing almost a gale.
Chief Webster estimates the damage at about $50. The house was occupied by Frank Stimpson and owned by William Vandenberg.

The ringing of the alarm brought out a large crowd. One of the drivers usually responds with his horses to pull out one of the Bank street outfits drove his span attached to a load of coal up Mill street to Bank street at such a lively clip that coal was strewn all along the route from the junction of Railroad and Main streets to the Bank street house.
